The screenshot shows the Publons website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Home', 'Solutions', and 'Forums' tabs. A search bar is present with the text 'Enter your search term here...' and a 'SEARCH' button. Below the search bar, there are links for 'New support ticket' and 'Check ticket status'. The main content area features a breadcrumb trail: 'Solution home / ResearcherID comes to Publons / General info'. The title of the article is 'How do I get a Web of Science ResearcherID?' with a 'Modified on: Tue, 15 Oct, 2019 at 10:31 AM' timestamp. The article text explains that users can register on Publons and import their Web of Science publications to become eligible for a ResearcherID. It also mentions that each night, Publons assigns a ResearcherID to profiles with one or more Web of Science Core Collection-indexed publications that do not yet have a ResearcherID. A note states that any publications added to a profile will be linked to the ResearcherID when searched for on Web of Science, with a two-week delay for updates. A final note suggests that users without indexed publications but needing a ResearcherID should follow a link to generate one. At the bottom, there is a feedback question: 'Did you find it helpful? Yes - No'.
